The Lin-Credible Awards Ceremony

March 29, 2012

Dear Lin-Credible Winners,

I am honored, as your City Manager, to recognize the outstanding work you do for the City of Tallahassee. As I noted the nearly 150 Lin-Credible nominations from our City workforce and saw the examples of servant leaders, employees making a difference outside the workplace and employees taking incredible pride in their service to our citizens, it caused me to stop and remember exactly why I am such an advocate for "extraordinary" public service. Public service is an opportunity to truly make a difference in our community, but it is also the opportunity to work with each and every one of you.

Your stories of service exemplify the goals of this employee recognition campaign – to seek out and find our own "Jeremy Lins" – those individuals who may not be in the limelight but work as part of a team to ensure consistent, ethical, customer-oriented results. In the same way that Jeremy Lin came from the bench to lead the New York Knicks on a long winning streak and back into playoff contention, you work on the City's team day in and day out to ensure we are the best that we can be.

Most appropriate is the fact that your contributions were noted by your co-workers who nominated you, and you were selected by an employee team as the very best Lin-Credible representative of your department. You are the heart of our organization, and today is your day. Congratulations and thank you for giving your all for our City team and our community.
